

IMPORTANT NEWS UPDATE JANUARY 2020

ELECTRICAL CAPACITANCE TOMOGRAPHY (ECT) MEASUREMENT SYSTEMS

Because of component obsolescence problems, we are no longer supply any new ECT measurement systems.

Consequently, after 25 years supplying this equipment to research organisations across the world, we have reluctantly decided to close the company.

For the present, we are leaving all of our existing sales and technical information on this website as a service to existing and possible new users of our equipment.

Please note that our associate company Atout Process Ltd. may be able to supply similar ECT and flow measurement equipment to new customers and can be contacted at:
